REPORT

Language skills classes were conducted for III-year students to equip them with essential interpersonal and professional skills required for personal growth and career success. These skills are essential for personal and professional growth, enabling individuals to handle challenges, make informed decisions, and build healthy relationships. They foster confidence, adaptability, and emotional well-being for a fulfilling life. The program was conducted from 05-06-23 to 07-06-23. The students learned few important areas in these 3 days. Discipline was maintained during the session. They were given small assignments to check their involvement. The program was successful as the students were satisfied.

- Day 1: Interpersonal Skills
- Day 2: Health and Wellness
- Day 3: Leadership and Initiative

Feedback from Participants:

Students felt happy as developing language skills will enable them to better manage their time and confidence. They thanked the management for providing the session and expressed that in future they would like to attend many of these kinds of sessions.

REPORT

The Two-Day Python Program was headed by Mr.Rama Krishna with the aim of introducing participants to the basics and applications of Python programming. The program, held on Dates: 21/08/2023 to 22/08/2023 witnessed enthusiastic participation from students, and provided valuable insights into Python's diverse uses in various domains. This report provides a summary of the program's sessions, activities, and feedback from participants.

Day 1: Introduction to Python and Basic Programming Concepts

FN:

- Python's history and evolution.
- Key features of Python (easy syntax, versatility, open-source nature).
- Setting up Python (installation and IDEs like PyCharm, VSCode, Jupyter Notebooks).

AN:

- Variables and data types (int, float, string, list, tuple, etc.).
- Operators and expressions.
- Control structures (if-else statements, loops, etc.).
- Functions and methods.

Day 2: Advanced Concepts and Practical Applications

FN:

- Classes and objects.
- Inheritance, polymorphism, encapsulation, and abstraction.
- Practical examples of OOP in Python, demonstrating how to structure real-world applications.

AN:

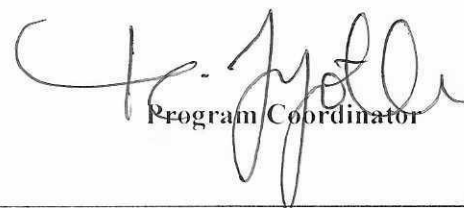

- Data manipulation with Pandas.
- Data visualization using Matplotlib and Seaborn.
- Hands-on project: Analyzing and visualizing a sample dataset.

By the end of the two-day program, participants had gained:

- A solid understanding of Python programming fundamentals.
- Experience with Python libraries like NumPy, Matplotlib, Pandas, and BeautifulSoup.
- Practical knowledge of Object-Oriented Programming (OOP).
- Hands-on experience in using Python for real-world tasks such as data analysis and automation.

Feedback from Participants:

Overall, the feedback from the participants taken orally was highly positive: Participants mentioned that the hands-on exercises and real-world examples helped them relate to the material better and improved their learning experience.
